

Risk Assessment Matrix for Off-Campus Activities Involving Students

Instructions

- Tick all boxes that apply to the Off-Campus Activity.
- Review all columns and determine the appropriate overall risk level based on the highest risk level in any column.

Low, medium, and high risks are catergorized as manageable. Extreme risks are categorized as unmaneagable.

Who will be traveling? (check all that apply)

Students Employees Volunteers Guests/Minors

1. What kind of activity will they be doing?

Low — An activity that entails hazards or risk no greater than those encountered by participants in their everyday lives (e.g. meetings, conferences).

Medium — Activities that entail a higher level of risk than individuals would encounter in their daily lives, but those risks are easily mitigated (e.g. most field research activities, off-road vehicle use, sharps use).

High — Activities that have the potential to expose participants to hazards that are significantly greater than those likely to be encountered in their everyday lives but which can be minimized through planning, training, standard operating procedures, etc. (e.g. direct work with dangerous wildlife, travel or work in extremely isolated locations). Note: some activities, such as water related, fireworks, or extreme sport activities, may have insurance exclusions.

AND/OR

Student will be travelling with no on-site supervision.

Extreme — An activity for which there is substantial risk to participants, which strategic planning cannot effectively minimize with any reasonable probability (e.g. activities that result in a high probability of an incident that could result in serious injury or death).

2. Where will they be going?

Low — Typically, travel within Canada is low risk. However, possible risks such as natural disasters and public health issues should be taken into consideration in determining whether the risk level should increase.

Medium — Travel within Canada to places impacted by natural disasters and/or public health issues.

AND/OR

Traveler will be in a second language environment within Canada.

AND/OR

Travel outside of Canada, including a location the Gov't Travel advice and advisories site indicates travellers "take normal security precautions".
